

Getaway birthday

SEEMS like it has been a year full of milestones for Saloni Doshi, the art collector and founder of Space 118. After a rather successful curatorial debut show at Sakshi gallery in September, which marked 10 years of her Mazgaon-based residency space, Doshi rang in her 40th birthday at fellow collector Kavita Singh's beautiful home in Alibaug on Sunday. In attendance was most of the city's art fraternity – Arshiya Lokhandwala, Sree Goswami, Mortimer Chatterjee, Tara Lal, Shilpa Gupta and Rajiv Saini, Dinesh and Minal Vazirani, Dara Mehta as well as Erika and Peter Born. Artist Tanya Goel and gallerist Aparajita Jain especially flew down from Delhi to celebrate her big day. Singh, of course, played a gracious host and even gave some of the lucky guests an art tour around her home.

Indo-American wedding

A charming wedding is set to take over Mumbai this weekend. The beautiful Diya Talwar, whose parents Lovraj and Dolly Talwar come from the Nitco family, is set to wed her American beau Jeffrey Rubenstein. Lovraj and Dolly now live in Dubai, but his brother and sister-in-law, Vivek and Anjali, and sister Poonam still live here. A south Mumbai fivestar has been booked for five days of festivities – from the American ceremony to the sangeet and chuda, and a wedding and reception. Much of the olden and golden SoBo surnames will be in full attendance to bless the couple.
