This revolutionary and iconic all-Indian hotel art fair additionally fostering the textiles, tribal arts, and artisans who are still active in India, with some of the proceeds designated as charitable.

For the first time, the rooms and floors of the Taj Palace have been transformed into exclusive feature spaces that will inspire the love of art and creativity. With the goal to acknowledge the luxury of history and tradition, the three co-founders Payal Kapoor, Malvika Poddar, and Timsy Anand envisioned integrating indigenous and global art, as well as artists, and providing collectors and art enthusiasts with a space to fully immerse themselves in the world of art and allied professions.

In addition to private collectors like Saloni Doshi, Priya Paul, and Lekha Poddar, the event will showcase jewellery and textile designers including Abha Dalamia, Jyotika Jalani, Archana Aggarwal, Dia Colour, and Lodha Jewels by Alok Lodha. Additionally, Sakti Burman, Manjit Bawa, Lindsey Nobel, Chris Trueman, and Faiza Huma also have solo shows on display.

This massive event is created by three individuals who have the vision and desire to revolutionise the art industry.
